18 entitled proceedings that the following matters are true:

19 PARTIES

20 1. Benjamin Bodea (Complainant) is the Acting Executive Officer of the Acupuncture 21 Board. He brought this action solely in his official capacity and is represented in this matter by 22 Kamala D. Harris, Attorney General of the State of California, by Wendy Widlus, Deputy 23 Attorney General.

24 2. ZONG LIANG JIANG, L.Ac. (Respondent) is representing himself in this proceeding
25 and has chosen not to exercise his right to be represented by counsel.

26 3. On or about March 9, 2007, the Acupuncture Board issued Acupuncturist License
27 No. AC11661 to Zong Liang Jiang, L.Ac. The Acupuncturist License was in full force and effect
28 at all times relevant to the charges brought in Accusation No. 1A-2014-49 and will expire on 1 November 30, 2016, unless renewed.

2 JURISDICTION

3 4. Accusation No. 1A-2014-49 was filed before the Acupuncture Board (Board),
4 Department of Consumer Affairs, and is currently pending against Respondent. The Accusation
5 and all other statutorily required documents were properly served on Respondent on February 12, 6 2016. Respondent timely filed his Notice of Defense contesting the Accusation. A copy of 7 Accusation No. 1A-2014-49 is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

8 ADVISEMENT AND WAIVERS

9 5. Respondent has carefully read, and understands the charges and allegations in 10 Accusation No. 1A-2014-49. Respondent also has carefully read, and understands the effects of 11 this Stipulated Surrender of License and Order.

13 hearing on the charges and allegations in the Accusation; the right to be represented by counsel, at 14 his own expense; the right to confront and cross-examine the witnesses against him; the right to 15 present evidence and to testify on his own behalf; the right to the issuance of subpoenas to compel 16 the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents; the right to reconsideration and 17 court review of an adverse decision; and all other rights accorded by the California
18 Administrative Procedure Act and other applicable laws.

19 7. Respondent voluntarily, knowingly, and intelligently waives and gives up each and 20 every right set forth above.

21 CULPABILITY

22 8. Respondent admits the truth of each and every charge and allegation in Accusation
23 No. 1A-2014-49, agrees that cause exists for discipline and hereby surrenders his Acupuncturist
24 License No. AC11661 for the Board's formal acceptance.

25 9. Respondent understands that by signing this stipulation he enables the Board to issue
26 an order accepting the surrender of his Acupuncturist License without further process.

1 understands and agrees that counsel for Complainant and the staff of the Acupuncture Board may 2 communicate directly with the Board regarding this stipulation and surrender, without notice to or 3 participation by Respondent. By signing the stipulation, Respondent understands and agrees that 4 he may not withdraw his agreement or seek to rescind the stipulation prior to the time the Board
5 considers and acts upon it. If the Board fails to adopt this stipulation as its Decision and Order,

7 paragraph, it shall be inadmissible in any legal action between the parties, and the Board shall not 8 be disqualified from further action by having considered this matter.

9 11. The parties understand and agree that Portable Document Format (PDF) and facsimile
10 copies of this Stipulated Surrender of License and Order, including Portable Document Format
11 (PDF) and facsimile signatures thereto, shall have the same force and effect as the originals.

12 12. In consideration of the foregoing admissions and stipulations, the parties agree that 13 the Board may, without further notice or formal proceeding, issue and enter the following Order:

14 ORDER

15 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Acupuncturist License No. AC11661, issued to 16 Respondent Zong Liang Jiang, L.Ac., is surrendered and accepted by the Acupuncture Board.

17 1. The surrender of Respondent's Acupuncturist License and the acceptance of the 18 surrendered license by the Board shall constitute the imposition of discipline against Respondent.
19 This stipulation constitutes a record of the discipline and shall become a part of Respondent's
20 license history with the Acupuncture Board.

21 2. Respondent shall lose all rights and privileges as an acupuncturist in California as of 22 the effective date of the Board's Decision and Order.

25 4. If Respondent ever files an application for licensure or a petition for reinstatement in 26 the State of California, the Board shall treat it as a petition for reinstatement. Respondent must 27 comply with all the laws, regulations and procedures for reinstatement of a revoked license in 28 effect at the time the petition is filed, and all of the charges and allegations contained in

1 Accusation No. 1A-2014-49 shall be deemed to be true, correct and admitted by Respondent
2 when the Board determines whether to grant or deny the petition.

3 5. If Respondent should ever apply or reapply for a new license or certification, or 4 petition for reinstatement of a license, by any other health care licensing agency in the State of 5 California, all of the charges and allegations contained in Accusation, No. 1A-2014-49 shall be 6 deemed to be true, correct, and admitted by Respondent for the purpose of any Statement of 7 Issues or any other proceeding seeking to deny or restrict licensure.

8 6. Respondent shall pay the Board its costs of investigation and enforcement in the 9 amount of $5,110.00 prior to issuance of a new or reinstated license.

12 stipulation and the effect it will have on my Acupuncturist License. I enter into this Stipulated
13 Surrender of License and Order voluntarily, knowingly, and intelligently, and agree to be bound 14 by the Decision and Order of the Acupuncture Board.

Facts

9. Patient PT<sup>1</sup> saw Respondent for three (3) acupuncture visits, the last visit occurring on or about December 18, 2010. Respondent, who spoke very limited English, performed acupuncture on patients at chiropractor KL's office, and asked chiropractor KL to translate for him and his patients.

10. On or about December 18, 2010, Respondent inserted seven (7) acupuncture needles into PT's shoulder, neck, and upper back. When Respondent inserted the 1.5 inch acupuncture

1 needle into PT's back, PT experienced tremendous pain, jumped and yelled and then beseeched
2 Respondent to remove the needle.

3 11. Respondent did not appear to understand PT's entreaty, said "Good pain. . ." and then 4 vigorously stimulated the needle whose insertion had caused such great pain to PT.

5 12. After vigorously stimulating the acupuncture needle, Respondent dropped a heavy 6 cotton blanket over PT on top of all of the needles he had inserted, and left the room.

7 13. After Respondent dropped the blanket over the needles and left the room PT felt 8 severe chest pain, experienced trouble breathing, and was unable to move. PT yelled for 9 Respondent so that Respondent would return and remove the acupuncture needles.

10 14. PT continued to yell for Respondent who did not return to PT's room for 11 approximately five (5) minutes. Respondent returned and did not appear to understand what PT 12 told him about the severity of the pain he was experiencing. PT also made faces and pointed at 13 the needles in an attempt to communicate to Respondent that he was in excruciating pain.
14 Respondent reacted to PT's expressions of pain by repeatedly saying "It's good, it's good."

15 15. PT realized Respondent did not understand what he was saying about being in intense 16 pain and pled over and over again with Respondent to get KL.

17 16. Approximately five (5) to 10 minutes after Respondent returned to PT's room, 18 Respondent left the room and returned with KL who looked at PT and told Respondent to remove 19 the needles he had inserted into PT.

20 17. PT's wife arrived to pick him up while KL was examining PT and KL told PT's wife 21 to immediately take PT to the hospital. PT and his wife left Respondent's office and arrived at 22 the hospital emergency room approximately 10 minutes later.

23 18. Hospital X-rays revealed PT had a significant right-side tension pneumothorax.<sup>2</sup> PT

24 <sup>2</sup> A pneumothorax is a collapsed lung which occurs when air leaks in to the space between the lungs and the 25 chest wall, pushes on the outside of the lung and causes a collapse. Pneumothoraces are classified as spontaneous or traumatic. A spontaneous pneumothorax occurs without trauma.

26 A traumatic pneumothorax is caused by an injury that tears the lung and allows air to enter the pleural space 27 causing the lung to collapse. In a tension pneumothorax air enters the pleural cavity and is trapped there during expiration so the air pressure within the thorax mounts higher than atmospheric pressure and compresses the lung, 28 which may displace the mediastinum (the space in the chest between the pleural sacs of the lungs that contains all the tissues and organs of the chest except the lungs and pleurae) and its structures (including the lung) toward the

1 was admitted into the hospital, underwent chest tube placement,<sup>3</sup> and remained hospitalized for 2 seven (7) days until chest X-rays showed no further evidence of the pneumothorax.

3 Standard of Care

4 19. The upper back contains numerous potentially dangerous points located close to the 5 lungs. Traditional Chinese Medicine<sup>4</sup> literature contraindicates the use of points close to the lungs
6 for deep puncture. Four of the points Respondent chose to use on PT are documented in medical 7 literature as potentially dangerous due to their close proximity to the lungs. The standard of care 8 requires an acupuncturist who selects and uses potentially dangerous points to employ additional 9 safeguards to avoid an unnecessary risk that a patient will suffer a pneumothorax.

10 20. Acupuncturists have great flexibility in choosing one or more treatment methods to 11 avoid the possibility using acupuncture points which are dangerous to the patient and risk the 12 possibility of causing a potentially life threatening condition such as a pneumothorax. The 13 standard of care requires an acupuncturist to consider if the benefits of using potentially 14 dangerous points outweigh the risks.

15 21. Respondent's choice to use potentially dangerous points when treating PT rather than 16 using a different treatment method is an extreme departure from the standard of care.

17 22. Acupuncture points<sup>5</sup> include potentially dangerous points such as those located near

18 (...continued)

19 opposite side, and cause cardiopulmonary impairment.

20 A tension pneumothorax is the most serious type of pneumothorax because it may affect the heart's ability 21 to pump blood, and unless reversed may progress to death.

22 <sup>3</sup> A chest tube (or intercostal drain) is the most definitive initial treatment of a pneumothorax. The use of a
23 chest tube is required in cases of tension pneumothorax. The tube is connected to a one-way valve system that allows 24 air to escape, but not to re-enter, the chest. The tube is typically inserted in an area under the axilla (armpit) called 25 the "safe triangle", where damage to internal organs can be avoided. The tube is left in place until no air is seen to 26 escape from it for a period of time, and X-rays confirm the re-expansion of the lung.

24 <sup>4</sup> Traditional Chinese medicine (TCM) is an ancient holistic system of health and healing, based on the 25 notion of harmony and balance, and employing the ideas of moderation and prevention. TCM is a complete system of 26 health care with its own unique theories of anatomy, health, and treatment. It uses acupuncture, herbal medicine, 27 massage, and exercise, focuses on stimulating the body's natural curative powers, and emphasizes diet and 28 prevention.

26 <sup>5</sup> Acupuncture points involve the use of sharp, thin needles that are inserted in the body at very specific 27 points on the surface of the body, located on a line of energy flow meridian, at which an acupuncture needle can be 28 inserted to produce a beneficial effect.

1 an important organ, nerve, or artery. The standard of care requires an acupuncturist to exercise
2 special care when needling<sup>6</sup> such a point.

3 23. The vigorous stimulation of a needle placed in a potentially dangerous point by an 4 acupuncturist after a patient expresses pain upon initial needle insertion is an extreme violation of 5 the standard of care.

6 24. Respondent's vigorous stimulation of the needle he placed into PT's back after PT
7 expressed great pain after the needle's insertion is an extreme violation of the standard of care.

8 25. Respondent's careless act of dropping a heavy cotton blanket on top of acupuncture
9 needles he previously inserted into potentially dangerous points located close to PT's lungs
10 resulted in pushing the needles deeper into PT in multiple directions which created random
11 insertion angles and is an extreme departure from the standard of care.

12 26. Respondent's careless act of dropping a heavy cotton blanket on top of acupuncture
13 needles he previously inserted into potentially dangerous points located close to PT's lungs
14 resulted in pushing the needles deeper into PT which caused PT's pneumothorax, and is an 15 extreme departure from the standard of care.

16 27. Acupuncture needle length and the angle of the needle's insertion primarily 17 determines the safety of acupuncture treatment. The standard of care requires that the needles be 18 as short as possible as use of a longer needle poses an unnecessary risk of miscalculating the 19 depth of insertion. The standard of care requires when choosing the length of the acupuncture 20 needle the acupuncturist consider the patient's age and constitution, the condition being treated, 21 and the location of the acupuncture point.

22 28. The standard of care requires that the acupuncturist follow basic safety protocols for

23 <sup>6</sup> There are several types of acupuncture needles. The needles used for acupuncture are different from the 24 hypodermic needles. Acupuncture needles have a solid shaft unlike hypodermic needles which have a hollow shaft to 25 inject medicines. Acupuncture needles have a doweled end, unlike the hypodermic needles which have a cutting end and therefore cause far less tissue damage or bruising when inserted as compared to hypodermic needles.

26 In ancient China, nine (9) different types of acupuncture needle were used. Today, the most commonly used 27 needle is the metal filiform (thread-like) needle made from stainless steel. Acupuncture needles come in different 28 gauges (diameter) and lengths to be used on the different areas of the body where they are to be inserted. As the needles penetrate the skin, hygiene is considered important. Most modern acupuncturists use disposable, pre-sterilized single use needle packs meant to be thrown away after each client.

1 needle insertion near internal organs which include the selection of a needle of correct needle
2 size. Use of a ½ inch needle as opposed to a 1.5 inch needle allows an acupuncturist to control
3 the depth of insertion if a patient moves. A cough or sneeze can also change the original position
4 of the needle and if a patient moves an arm for any reason the scapula<sup>7</sup> will move which can 5 affect the position of the needle. If the patient is left alone and moves, the needle can change 6 direction and/or penetrate deeper than the original puncture depth and cause a pneumothorax.

7 29. Respondent's choice to use a 1.5 inch needle instead of a ½ inch needle put PT at risk
8 of incurring a pneumothorax and was an extreme departure from the standard of care.

9 30. The standard of care for needle insertion near internal organs requires the 10 acupuncturist to utilize proper needle technique, such as needling in an acutely oblique direction 11 over boney skeletal structures and lifting the muscle away from the chest wall.

12 31. Respondent's failure to insert needles into PT without utilizing proper needle 13 technique put PT at risk of incurring pneumothoraces and was an extreme departure from the 14 standard of care.

15 32. The standard of care requires the acupuncturist to verify the correct depth and angle 16 of insertion of every point selected for treatment before placing a needle in a potentially 17 dangerous area of the patient's body. The standard of care requires the acupuncturist to be 18 familiar with anatomy and know where the borders of the pleurae<sup>8</sup> and lungs are situated and the 19 thickness of the soft tissue which covers them. The insertion of needles into points close to the 20 lungs should be shallow regardless of the patient's age, weight and constitution.

21 33. Respondent's failure to appropriately utilize basic anatomical knowledge to enable 22 him to correctly insert needles into treatment points was an extreme departure from the standard 23 of care.

24 34. The standard of care requires that an acupuncturist be able to effectively
25 communicate with a patient. Effective communication includes being able to understand a

26 <sup>7</sup> A scapula is a flat, triangular bone forming the back part of a shoulder in humans which is also referred to 27 as the shoulder blade.

28 <sup>8</sup> Each of a pair of serous (watery) membranes lining the thorax and enveloping the lungs in humans and other mammals.

1 patient's assertion of discomfort and/or pain in the patient's language, as well as to appropriately
2 respond to the patient's communication.

3 35. Respondent's failure to appropriately respond to PT's initial demonstration of pain
4 and requests that Respondent remove the needle which caused PT great pain when inserted
5 reveals Respondent's inability to communicate effectively with his patient and is an extreme 6 departure from the standard of care.

7 36. Respondent's subsequent failure to appropriately respond to PT's entreaties to 8 remove the needles when he returned to PT's room reveals Respondent's inability to 9 communicate effectively with his patient and is an extreme departure from the standard of care.

10 FIRST CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

12 37. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under 4955.2, subdivision (a), in that he 13 was grossly negligent in in his care and treatment of his patient, PT. The circumstances are as 14 follows:

15 38. Complainant refers to, and by reference incorporates herein as if fully set forth the 16 facts and circumstances alleged in paragraphs 9 through 18.

17 39. Respondent's failure to conform to the applicable standard of care when treating 18 patient PT, includes the following acts and/or omissions which constitutes extreme departures
19 from the standard of practice:

21 using a different treatment method is an extreme departure from the standard of care.

22 B. Respondent's vigorous stimulation of the needle he placed into PT's back after PT 23 expressed great pain after the needle's insertion.

24 C. Respondent's careless act of dropping a heavy cotton blanket on top of acupuncture

26 resulted in pushing the needles deeper into PT in multiple directions which created random
27 insertion angles.

2 resulted in pushing the needles deeper into PT which caused PT's pneumothorax.

3 E. Respondent's choice to use a 1.5 inch needle instead of a ½ inch needle put PT at risk
4 of incurring a pneumothorax and was an extreme departure from the standard of care.

5 F. Respondent's failure to insert needles into PT without utilizing proper needle
6 technique put PT at risk of incurring pneumothoraces.

7 G. Respondent's failure to appropriately utilize basic anatomical knowledge to enable 8 him to correctly insert needles into treatment points.

9 H. Respondent's failure to appropriately respond to PT's initial demonstration of pain
10 and requests that Respondent remove the needle which caused PT great pain when inserted 11 reveals Respondent's inability to communicate effectively with his patient.
